CHARLES RAWLINS

The following information secured from Film 34733 929.2 7-I-551-Pt 16

Charles Rawlins enlisted in the Revolutionary War under George Washington. His two sons James and Joseph and his brother Rodric Rawlins enlisted in the war of 1812 under Andrew Jackson. ✓

His wife Eustacie Gregory Rawlins lived at her home until after the war, when her sons came home bringing news that her husband was dead.

They then moved from their home and heard nothing more of him. His wife married again to a man by the name of Noah Phillips, and raised seven children (five boys and two girls by her second marriage).

Years after it was learned that Charles Rawlins was not dead; that he returned and being unable to find trace of his family had married again.

Regarding his second marriage we have no record of who he married or what became of him.

LIFE HISTORY OF CHARLOTTA RAWLINS DOWNS

Charlotta Rawlins Downs was born in Rutherford County, North Carolina on Christmas day 1792. She was the daughter of Charles Rawlins and Eustacia Gregory. The father of Charles Rawlins was James Moason Rawlings who came from England to the Carolinas and here he started spelling his name Rawlins. This Charles Rawlins is the progenator of Senator Rawlins and many of the prominent people of Utah of that name. Charlotta died 23 of January, 1863 at Draper.

Charles Rawlins and two of his sons went to war together. His father James Mason Rawlins had been a soldier in the Revolutionary War. At the end of the war the two sons returned but the father was not heard of. A long time passed and all traces of his whereabouts seemed lost and he was believed dead for they ad heard he had been killed. They lived in Kentucky at this time at Danville.

Eustacia moved with her children to either Illinois or Indiana and there married Noah Phillips and by him had 5 more children Isreal, Edward, Andrew, Keen, Amanda and Nancy. By Charles Rawlins she had James, Joseph, Hosea, Rhoderick, Charlotta and Amy.

Years later a man was going thru the town in which they lived, a neighbor, and came across them. He told them that after they had moved north with her family and her new husband, the father, Charles Rawlins, had come back in search of his family only to find them gone. He learned that she had married again and like a second Enock Arden, ~~W~~ went away and was never heard of again. He had been ill and taken prisoner in one of the battles. His family made a great effort to locate him but in vain. This was a source of great grief to Eustacia, knowing that her husband was still alive and she having a family by both. She wondered if she would be condemned for remaining with her present husband but as they found no trace of Charles she finally contented herself that she was doing the right thing and remained with Noah ~~Phillips~~ Phillips the rest of her life. She was the mother of 10 children. Charlotta ~~and~~ and the 3 boys joined the L.D.S. Church and pioneered to Utah.

Charlotta married about 1814 to Ezekial Downs. He was born in 1790. He was the son of Thomas Downs, a revolutionary soldier, and a grandson of Zackeriah Downs who was a miller and came from Scotland. They were with the prophet and suffered the bitter hardships and persecutions that befell the saints at that time. Her son was the body guard of the prophet, with Issac Stewart, at the time he was martyred.

They built a nice home. With their hands in agony pinned behind them they were forced to stand by and watch their home burned to the ground before their eyes mid the cheers and curses of the mob. Altho their trials were many they were true to the faith they had accepted. With the exception of Ezekial and one son. After the prophet was slain. Ezekial said, "This is enough. My best friend is gone. I am through." So the family divided, he staying with Sidney in Iowa and the rest coming to Utah. The son Asa Downs returned to the East and raised a large family. James and the three girls located in Draper, their farms adjoining. The girls were the most devoted of sisters. Throughout their lives their great devotion to each other was a grand sight to all who knew them. "Most inspiring" people would say. Throughout their lives they were seldom separated. James moved to Cache Valley where he raised a large family at Smithfield, Utah.

The following is taken from the RECORD BOOK OF JAMES DOWNS:

I was born in Harrison Co. Indiana July 14th. In the year of our Lord 1815 son of Ezekiel Downs and Charlotte daughter of Charles Rawlins. My great grand father Zaccariah Downs emigrated from Scotland to North Carolina before the war of Independence. Being an elderly man and owning a grist mill he was exempt from service. My grand father Thomas enlisted in his 17th. year and served during the war and marched in the hot sand till his feet bled, and dipped water in his hat as he marched along and gave to the wounded soldiers. He enlisted under General McDowell and fought under Washington.

My father was uneven tempered, rather on the extreme both ways. My mother was even tempered, kind, affectionate. They were well respected by their neighbors. They labored and made a good living.

We emigrated to Illinois in the fall of '28 and settled in Adams Co. In the Spring of '29, 12 miles below Quincy one of the most beautiful countries I ever saw. The land was very rich, the praries intersprist with beautiful Groves of timber with singing birds and the country abounded with wild game, wild fruit, fish and honey.

My father bought calves and raised for market, bought land, fenced 160 acres, broke 100 acres and raised large crops of corn, wheat, oats, beans, potatoes, pumpkins, melons, and raised hogs for market.

And in the Spring of '38 the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day-Saints was driven from Missouri. The main body crossed at Quincy and some at Hannibal. Five families came to our place with one old wagon and a poor span of horses. We looked upon them as a poor persecuted people, took them in, gave them work and helped to feed and clothe them. They began to predict that I would be a Mormon. I laughed at the idea, but when I heard the Elders set forth the first principles of the Gospel I received it with joy, the first one of the family.

I was baptised in October 1840 by Bishop David Evans and confirmed and had many manifestations of the truth of what I had received from time to time.

In a short time after that I went to West Virginia with my sister and brother-in-law Absalom Smith and spent the winter with his relations and taught school two months. Bought dried fruit 120 bushels and returned in the Spring and raised a crop. And in the fall Bro. Isaac M. Stewart married my sister and Elder Hyde was sent from Nauvoo to council us to swap farms with the anti-Mormons in Hancock Co. and gather. (In the summer of '42 I was ordained a Priest by Jacob Meyers). I moved up and lived with them in Noltuns settlement 12 miles below Nauvoo. By this time my Mother, Father and 3 sisters had joined the Church. This was in the Spring of '44 and in the month of June I had been down to my fathers and as I was returning home I saw a body of armed men in a little town called Lima and supposed it was training day, but was soon informed that it was a mob gathered to make an attack on Father Morley's settlement that night about 3 miles distant but before I reached the settlement I saw a black cloud rising in the North-west. I increased my speed and reached a house just as the storm set in. It blew down fences uprooted trees and the rain fell in torrents and the next morning the road was so filled with timber I had to pick my way through the woods. I speak of this children that you may see that the Lord chose the storm to save his people for the mob had laid their plans to an attack on all the settlements, as well as Nauvoo. When I got home I was told that all the able bodied men was called to Nauvoo. I went up with my old shotgun to see what was wanted. The Prophet rode along the ranks and saw some of the boys barefooted and he rode to some shoe shops and told them to let the boys have shoes and he would foot the bill, but he was pressed upon by his enemies, backed up by appostates, that he fled to Montrose across the river with the intention of making his way to the Rocky Mountains, but his wife Emy sent for him to come back and save the people. He then said he would give himself up and die for his brethren and sisters and as he went to Carthage Jail he said he was going like a Lamb to the slaughter.

I cannot describe the scene that followed. Mobs marched through the country. I told the brethren that if we did not raise men and take them out of prison that they would be slaughtered. And when the word came I went to the woods to pray to know who was to lead the Church and when I rose up a small still voice whispered to me Brigham Young and that gave me comfort.

The heavens seemed to weep over the horrible deed for it rained so much that it drowned the crops and all nature seemed to wear a gloom. In the Spring of '45 we swapt farms with Eli D. Walker 4 miles east of Warsaw. Ours was the best farm but he wanted boot and said he would not trade and started off and I went to the woods and prayed that he might change his mind and return and trade with us. When I got to the house he rode up and said he would trade. My father moved up and put in a crop and in the summer the mob began to haul a wagon load of armed men past my father's door and fired their guns and yelled like demons and early in the fall old Co. Williams a Baptist Preacher raised 60 men, camped in the woods 2 miles from my father's place and commenced burning houses. He sent out 12 men well armed with a bottle of whiskey in each pocket with orders to the Mormons to take their sick folks and leave. We done so, and let them burn. It was a frame, painted, and done off in good style with four good rooms and cost about 800$, where labor was very cheap. We sold the farm for 1133$, less than half its worth and glad to get that to make an outfit to leave such civilization.

The Prophet Joseph Smith appeared to my Father in a dream and said to him, follow me. He followed him some distance up hill and came to a beautiful little stream of water. Now, he said stoop down and let me wash your face. He did so, then he said again, follow me. He went on a piece but the mountain was so steep he got tired and stopped.

He departed this life at Council Bluffs, in his 70th. year, I think.

In the fore-part of the winter of '45 I dreamed that I was standing in Nauvoo and I saw the Saints crossing the river to go west and others fitting up for the journey and a council of Elders was called to transact some business. Then I stood near the Temple and saw a battle fought with the mob. Then I traveled west with the main body of the Church a long distance to a large body of water. There we stopped, raised crops, feasted, thanked and praised the Lord for our deliverance - all of which I have seen fulfilled.

In the Spring of '46 I started with the main body of the Church and my father, mother, brother, and three sisters. We all stopped at Council Bluffs to winter when 500 men was called to leave their families and go to fight Mexico. I wanted to go, but my mother was sick and thought she would never see me again if I did.

Here I married in the Spring of '47 and in the Spring of '50 started to Salt Lake with 2 children and reached there September 15th. 1850.

Since that time I have passed through many scenes of afflictions, joy and sorrow. Since the year '51 I have made three farms and planted two orchards.

I first settled at Mill Creek Salt Lake Co. where I remained 5 years, sold out and moved to Lehi, stayed 5 years and then moved to Cache Valley, Smithfield and have been trying to make a permanent home 10 years, but time passes on like a river that bears us on to the Ocean of Eternity.

State of Indiana }
County of Lawrence } ret:

On this 19th day of May 1871 (A. D. One Thousand Eight Hundred and Seventy one), personally appeared before me, Clerk of the Lawrence Circuit Court, a Court of record within and for the County and State aforesaid, Joseph Rawlins, aged Seventy five years, a resident of Bedford, County of Lawrence, State of Indiana, who, being duly sworn, according to law, declares that he has been married, that his wife's name was Sallie McManis, to whom he was married, at Orange County, in said State, on the 5th day of January 1846. That he served the full period of sixty days in the military service of the United States in the war of 1812; that he is the identical Joseph Rawlins, who was enlisted and served in Captain James Biggers' Company of Mounted United States Rangers at Charlestown in the State of Indiana (the same being then a territory) on about the 1st day of June 1814, and was honorably discharged at Vincennes, in said State of Indiana (then a territory) on about the 1st day of June 1815: that he served as a private in said company; that he was absent from his home in said service during the whole year; that his company was not assigned to any Regiment, or Brigade; that they were stationed most of the time at Fort Harrison, and engaged in guarding the frontiers of said Territory against the depredations of the Indians; that he had three horses, of his own private property stolen from him while in said service; that at one time about 60 horses were stolen from them, most ly belonging to settlers, for whom they were guarding them; that he has heretofore obtained a Land Warrant, from the Government for his said service, of 160 acres; that he at no time during the late rebellion against the authority of the United States adhered to the cause of the enemies of the Government, giving them aid or comfort; or exercised the functions of any officer whatever under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; and that he will support the Constitution of the United States; that he is not in receipt of a pension under any previous act; that he subscribes this declaration for the purpose of being placed on the Pension Roll of the United States, under the provisions of the act approved February 14, 1871, and he hereby constitutes and appoints with full power of substitution and revocation Archibald C. Vories of Bedford Indiana his true and lawful attorney to prosecute his claim and produce the return of a Pension Certificate to him:

that his Post Office is at Bedford, County of Lawrence and State of Indiana; that his domicile and place of abode is the said Bedford. He further says that he does not now recollect that he ever had any discharge in regular form, and if he had it is on file with his application for a Grand Warrant: that he and his company were all regularly mustered out together, as a for said. He says that he is not now married.

John P. Gilchrist

Died- At his homestead, in Bedford Indiana on thursday, August 25th, 1855, of a painful and protracted illness, Joseph Rawlins.

His sufferings were intense but borne with fortitude and without complaint. At his death he was in his ninetieth year, having been born in what is now Boyle County, Ky. in april, 1796. His father died when he was four years old and left him to the care of his uncle, Roderic, who came with him to Indiana in the year 1812, and settled in what is now Lawrence County.

When quite a youth he volunteered in the service under Gen. Geo. W. Carr to suppress depredation on the north western frontier, for which service he was awarded a pension. Shortly after his return from the army he was married to Sarah McMann, and settled upon a farm near town upon which he remained several years. He disposed of his farm and moved to a cabin in the suburbs of town in 1830, and opened a store of general merchandize on the east side of the square. A few years later he built in connection with the late S. f. Irwin the brick stores on the west side, where he continued in business for about thirty years. His mercantile life was continuous for nearly fourty years. Previous to coming of the railroad he was extensively engaged in buying and shipping the produce of the country to New Orleans. he sent more produce to market from 1820 to 1850 then, perhaps, any other man in the State, all from this section at that time going in flat boats. He also built a large flouring mill on Salt Creek near town, (now operated by the Messrs..Daggy.) All these various branches of business were managed with that there was neither loss, jar nor hindrance.

In August of the year 1855 a great calamity befell him in the loss of his wife, a highly intelligent lady distinguished for her amiability and superior social qualities. After the death of his wife the duties of the household were placed in charg of his daughters. All of whom still live, and together, with a devotion and tenderness almost unparalleled ministerer to the wants and comforts if their father in his protracted illness.

After his retirement from business, he enjoyed much happiness with his children. There was a charming kindness of feeling between them, each one striving to add to the happiness of the other. At his home a graceful and cordial welcome was always extended to his friends and neighbors, not only to these, but to the ministers of the church to which he belonged and also to many distinguished persons from other sections of the State

In a word, his house has ever been ^{known} ~~reved~~ for its genial hospitality.

He has gone from our sight, but his memory will ever be green to all who knew him. In manners, he was modest and unassuming, in his dealings, upright and honorable, leaving no enemies behind. He now sleeps by the side of his wife who had long preceded him a happy immortality awaits them.

This town, where nearly all the years of his active business life were spent, was noted in its early days (sixty years ago) for its men of enterprise and business capacity; of these none were more prominent in the encouragement and advancement of its material interests and improvements than Mr. Rawlins. The noble men of the period referred to, and with whom he associated, with but three or four exceptions, have long since preceded him to "that bourne from whence no traveller e'er returns;) those who are left are tottering on the threshold, and will soon be no more.

William Surber, 1931
William Surber, who watched Indianapolis grow from a "good hunting place and Indian camp" to a large city, died Sunday. He was 104 years old. Indpls. Star May 19, 1931

Mr. Surber, a resident of Indianapolis eighty years, lived with his son, Harry Surber, 1786 West Twenty-eighth street, where he died. He had been active until a year ago when he was stricken with an infection of the foot and arteriosclerosis. He was a patient at the City hospital several months, but seemed to have recovered and during the closing weeks of his life insisted on waiting on himself and dressing without assistance.

Father Died at 110.

Mr. Surber often used to remark that his longevity was not unusual, because his father lived to be 110 years old.

His formula for long life was plenty of sleep and moderation. He never used tobacco in any form, it was said. Until the time of his death his eyesight was good, and he never wore glasses.

Born Dec. 23, 1826, in Baltimore, Mo., Mr. Surber, when 23 years old, came to Indianapolis with his brother. His parents were of English descent.

When he and his brothers arrived here, Indianapolis was a village with Indians camping at the Military park site. He went hunting for rabbits and birds in what is now the downtown section.

Wife Died 12 Years Ago.

Mr. Surber worked at the Udel Ladder Company beginning in 1874. The same year he was married to Miss Lucinda Rouse. She died twelve years ago. He was a member of the Merritt Place M. E. Church. Funeral services will be held at the church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Rev. E. Earl Jones, pastor, will preach the sermon. Burial will be in Floral Park cemetery.

Mr. Surber had nine children. Besides the son with whom he lived are two other sons, John and Charles Surber of Indianapolis.

BY ZORA I. ASKEW.

An automobile enthusiast, mind and eye alert to enjoy the beauties of nature, is Mrs. Antoinette Rawlins Voris, 31 years old, oldest native-born citizen of Bedford. She is the daughter of Joseph Rawlins, Northwest Territory ranger, pioneer merchant of Bedford and the man who named the city.

There is not a sunshiny day that she does not ride in her car.

Mrs. Voris was the youngest of thirteen children born to Joseph and Sallie McManis Rawlins. She was born Sept. 21, 1859, in the old farmhouse that stood at the edge of the first settlement of Bedford, now in the heart of the city. When 3 months old, the family moved to a brick mansion on the northwest corner of the public square, now the site of the Citizens National bank, with which the family has been identified since its foundation. Her grandson, A. C. Voris of the third generation, is cashier of the bank.

The mansion was the stopping place of all Methodist ministers who came to this community. From its environs were called two sons who became prominent early ministers of the Methodist denomination. One son was the president of the Asbury Female college at New Albany and a daughter, Mary, was a teacher in the college. The home was maintained by the oldest child, Miss Miranda Rawlins, until she died after her ninetieth birthday. At her death the mansion was razed and the bank was built.

Came From Kentucky.

Joseph Rawlins came from Danville, Ky., with a musket and a wife. With him were his brother, James Rawlins, and their uncle, Roderick Theodore F. Harrison, 86 years old, a pioneer realtor and developer of

Dear Mr. Rawlins;

We do not have death records here at the State Library. You should write to the County Health Office, Bedford, Indiana, for such information.

We have checked our histories of Lawrence County and found one biographical sketch of Joseph Rawlins, which we have copied for you. There are numerous other references which we do not have the staff to check. We are enclosing a list of genealogists who could do this for you if you wish.

We have also located a newspaper article concerning Joseph Rawlins, which we have Xeroxed. As the price of Xerox copies is .25 each, the dollar that you sent will cover the cost of the four copies.

We do not have the Bedford Weekly Mail here. I understand that the publisher had files from prior to 1885. The paper has since merged with the Bedford Daily Times; we do not know if the Times retained the files of the Mail, but if you would write they could tell you if they have the old papers or if they are now located elsewhere. If you could give them the exact date of Joseph Rawlins' death, perhaps they would check this for you. We do not have a record of files of the Mail as far back as 1885 in any other location.

Very truly yours,

January - 29 - 71.

Mr. Bert J. Rawlins.

Dear Sir,

In regards to this letter sent me on death of Joseph Rawlins. I find his grave here in our Cemetery. He has a monument stone, all I saw at present make-out and it is Inf. Inf. Company 7. The stone is settled so far under ground. I saw not find any date: he may be put in a wood box cause this. When I put my extra men on to work we may be able to raise this. But at present have no body here to do this. If he died in 1885, his body had to be brought from some other place

As. Green Hill Cemetery. Was started in March 1889. first Ladies buried then

On this lot I have several by this name, but only small markers and no dated, on stone.

Sorry I can't help you at present but appreciate you asking.

entered the State University, where he remained two years. He received a diploma from the Law Department of the State University in 1850, after which he immediately engaged in legal pursuits at Bedford. The fall of 1852 he purchased the White River Standard, a paper published at Bedford, which he edited until 1855, when he sold out and turned his attention to the exclusive practice of his profession. In 1852 he was elected State's Attorney for Lawrence and Jackson Counties, and October 11, 1853, married Caroline, daughter of Woodbridge and Harriet (Thornton) Parker. In his profession Mr. Pearson has made a success, both in legal and pecuniary sense. In early life he was a Whig, but since 1856 has been an outspoken Republican. As the nominee of his party he was elected Judge of the Tenth Judicial Circuit in 1873, serving until 1879. He and wife have had born to them eleven children, only Mabel, Caroline, Martha, Henry, Rona and Charles E. yet living. Mrs. Pearson and three daughters belong to the Presbyterian Church. Judge Pearson is a Camp Degree Odd Fellow. The death of Mrs. Pearson occurred March, 1883.

JESSE T. PHIPPS was born in Shawswick Township May 1, 1823, the fourth of nine children of Lewis and Margaret (Rector) Phipps, the father a native of North Carolina born July 19, 1783, the mother a native of Grayson County, Va., born February 17, 1793. In the winter of 1822 the parents located near Bedford where the father became prominent and well known, and owned at his death November 22, 1858, a farm of 146 acres. The father was a consistent member of the Baptist Church. Our subject's youth was passed without event, and at the age of twenty-six he married (March 29, 1849,) Nancy M. Dothitt, who bore him six children, of whom four are living: Henry C., Sarah M., Oliver M., Parthena A. Henry is in Kansas; the others are with their parents. Mr. Phipps has followed farming principally through life, though for four years he was a merchant in Daviess County. He owns 156 acres of land, is a Republican, takes an earnest interest in all public enterprises, and is universally respected.

JEFFERSON RAGSDALE was born in Lawrence County, August 15, 1847, being the third of nine children of Gabriel H. and Elizabeth (Cain) Ragsdale. His father, a native of Kentucky, came to this county about 1823. His mother was a native of this county. Our subject remained with his parents on their farm until the age of twenty-four years, and November 1, 1871, was united in marriage with Minerva E. Alexander, the issue of which union was one child—Alden C., born August 23, 1875. On the 18th of July, 1876, their little boy died, a loss that will be ever mourned by the parents. Mr. Ragsdale is a successful farmer, now owning seventy-one acres of good land. He and wife are members of the Christian Church. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, and is a Democrat of the practical school.

JOSEPH RAWLINS, the oldest settler now living in Lawrence County, is a native of the town of Danville, Boyle County, Ky., born April 21, 1796, one of five children born to Charles and Aristicia (Gregory) Rawlins, early settlers of Kentucky. In the fall of 1812 he settled in what is now Lawrence County, Ind., and has made that his home ever since. His father dying when he was four years old, he was left to the care of an uncle, with whom he came to Indiana. He served as a Ranger in 1814, from which service he saved money enough to buy eighty acres of land. In December, 1817, he married Miss Sallie Mc-

Manis, and began farming, taking his produce to New Orleans by flat-boat. In 1826 Mr. Rawlins began doing a general mercantile business at Bedford, which had only then been made the county seat, and which was named at the request of Mr. Rawlins, from Bedford County, Tenn., from whence his uncle had brought him. He built a flouring mill, also. Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins raised a family of ten children: James, Sarah J. (Denson), Miranda, Benjamin F., Mary (Hickman), Homer, Joseph, Susan (Mitchell), Emeline (Farmer), and Nettie (Voris). August 5, 1855, Mrs. Rawlins died, and about the same time he abandoned the mercantile trade entirely. He was the first Assessor of the county. He was elected County Commissioner, but resigned that office. He has generally been a Republican, although not strictly so, as he has always voted for men and principles, not party.

THOMAS T. RAY is the eldest child of seven of Squire and Sallie A. (Woolery) Ray, and was born May 16, 1843. The father, Squire, while yet a boy, came to Indiana from Kentucky in company with Jacob Woolery at an early day, and his parents came later and lived to the age of eighty years. When our subject was in his tenth year his parents died, and he went to live with his uncle, Thomas Stafford; but four years later made his home at his grandfather Woolery's, where he remained two years, and then enlisted in Company G, Fourth Indiana Cavalry, and served with distinction for one year, and was then discharged for disability. November 24, 1863, he married Susan E. Kern, who has presented him with eleven children as follows: Elmer C., Viola E., Wallace E., Ethel R., Harry R., Jesse G., Charlie N., Dailey C., Thomas E., Freddie M. and Sallie. Our subject has been a successful farmer, now owning 375 acres of well-improved land. He and wife are members of the Christian Church. He is a Mason, an Odd Fellow, a Granger, and affiliates with the National party.

HORATIO B. RICHARDSON was born at Waltham, Mass., February 10, 1813, and was one of ten children born to Ruel and Orra (Bird) Richardson. He was educated in the common schools of his native State and Connecticut, and when a young man learned the machinist's trade of his father. When only about fifteen years old he was made second overseer in a cotton spinning mill at Glastonbury, and besides having worked at this business in Glastonbury he was also at Lowell and other places. In 1833 he came to Bedford to start the woolen mills, then in course of erection, and remained one year, then went to Louisville, Ky., and from there a year later to Missouri. Two years later he returned to Bedford, which has ever since been his home. In 1847 he embarked in merchandising which for thirty-seven years he has continued without interruption, and to-day represents one of the oldest and most reliable business houses of Bedford. He owns, besides his grocery and provision store and building, nine dwellings and other business property in Bedford and Springville, and eighty acres of farming land. He has served in local positions of trust in the county, is a Republican and has always been identified with the best interests of his county and particularly in the erection of the High School building in Bedford. On the 19th of May 1842, Nancy A. Wobb became his wife, and to their union eleven children have been born, only the following being yet alive: Henry, Horace, Allen, Orra, Mary, Ellen and Louise.

JOHN RILEY, attorney at law, was born in Harrison County, Ohio, September 19, 1824, and is one of ten children born to William and Nancy (Ewing) Riley. He attended the common schools and at the same time studying both law and medicine. He married Rebecca Agnew, who was the daughter of John C. Agnew, son—Clinton C.—to survive to Lawrence County, Ind., where he continued to reside. He moved to Bedford and was re-elected to a second term. He resumed the practice of law and is recognized as one of the best lawyers in the county. In 1851, Mr. Riley was married to John R. Nugent, and the living: John R., Euphem, Nancy J. and Louise. Mr. Riley has several times served as a Whig in politics, but in 1860 was elected to the Republican party, and in 1860 was elected to the office of Clerk. When the war broke out he joined the army and has since been an active soldier.

JOHN SCOGGAN was born in Kentucky. Each of the four children of the family, and is the only one living. He was born on an early date of 1828, when there were no such school advantages as rudiments. His youth was spent in hard work. January 11, 1851, and nine children are the result of his marriage with Mary I. Smith; Mary I. Katharine B., who became married to Samuel E. Mitchell; John is a successful farmer, Republican in politics, and a farmer.

REUBEN B. SCOTT was born the third of five children of John and Mary Scott, of whom died when our subject was only five years of age. He came with his grandfather to Bedford in his youth by diligence secured five years. October 4, 1861, he was married. July 15, 1861, he was elected to the office of Sheriff, and served three months. He came home and taught school. He was listed in Company A, Sixty-ninth Indiana Infantry, among which were the sons of Gaines, Blakely and the others. He was twice taken prisoner in the rebel prison at Alexandria, and he has been an invalid. He owns 167 acres of land, and he and wife are members of the Methodist Church.

Died- At his homestead, in Bedford Indiana on thursday, August 25th, 1885, of a painful and protracted illness, Joseph Rawlins.

His sufferings were intense but borne with fortitude and without complaint. At his death he was in his ninetieth year, having been born in what is now Boyle County, Ky. in april, 1796. His father died when he was four years old and left him to the care of his uncle, Roderic, who came with him to Indiana in the year 1812, and settled in what is now Lawrence County.

When quite a youth he volunteered in the service under Gen. Geo. W. Carr to suppress depredation on the north western frontier, for which service he was awarded a pension. Shortly after his return from the army he was married to Sarah McMan, and settled upon a farm near town upon which he remained several years. He disposed of his farm and moved to a cabin in the suburbs of town in 1830, and opened a store of general merchandize on the east side of the square. A few years later he built in connection with the late S. f. Irwin the brick stores on the west side, where he continued in business for about thirty years. His mercantile life was continuous for nearly forty years. Previous to coming of the railroad he was extensively engaged in buying and shipping the produce of the country to New Orleans. he sent more produce to market from 1820 to 1850 then, perhaps, any other man in the State, all from this section at that time going in flat boats. He also built a large flouring mill on Salt Creek near town, (now operated by the Messrs..Daggy.) All these various branches of business were managed with that there was neither loss, jar nor hindrance.

In August of the year 1855 a great calamity befell him in the loss of his wife, a highly intelligent lady distinguished for her amiability and superior social qualities. After the death of his wife the duties of the household were placed in chare of his daughters. All of whom still live, and together, with a devotion and tenderness almost unparalleled ministerer to the wants and comforts if their father in his protracted illness.

After his retirement from business, he enjoyed much happiness with his children. There was a charming kindness of feeling between them, each one striving to add to the happiness of the other. At his home a graceful and cordial welcome was always extended to his friends and neighbors, not only to these, but to the ministers of the church to which he belonged and also to many distinguished persons from other sections of the State

In a word, his house has ever been ^{known} ~~reved~~ for its genial hospitality.

He has gone from our sight, but his memory will ever be green to all who knew him. In manners, he was modest and unassuming, in his dealings, upright and honorable, leaving no enemies behind. He now sleeps by the side of his wife who had long preceded him a happy immortality awaits them!

This town, where nearly all the years of his active business life were spent, was noted in its early days (sixty years ago) for its men of enterprise and business capacity; of these none were more prominent in the encouragement and advancement of its material interests and improvements than Mr. Rawlins. The noble men of the period referred to, and with whom he associated, with but three or four exceptions, have long since preceded him to "that bourne from whence no traveller e'er returns;) those who are left are tottering on the threshold, and will soon be no more.

HISTORY OF THE LEMMON FAMILY

James Lemmon was a messenger boy to George Washington during the American Revolution. He was the son of Robert Lemmon who was born in County Tyrone Ireland in 1730. Robert Lemmon with brothers John and James emigrated to America in 1750, settling in Baltimore, Maryland. They remained there for a number of years agitating the question in favor of American liberty and when war came they were in the front lines and the heat of battle. Robert Lemmon and his brothers entered the army during the French and Indian War, and served under General Edward Braddock and his Aide d camp, George Washington. They were in the Battle of Fort Duquesne on July 9th, 1755, on the occasion of defeat and mortal wounding of General Braddock. At the outbreak of the American Revolution The three brothers again entered the services of their country--this time as Captains in the Maryland and Virginia lines. Captain James Lemmon was killed in the Battle of Brandywine. Captain John Lemmon survived and upon the termination of hostilities moved with his family to Green County, Kentucky where he settled on and improved a fine farm upon the banks of the Green River--known far and wide as "Lemmon's Bend." He reared a large family, the greater portion of whom subsequently became pioneers in the new states and territories. His Great-grandson, Major Alexander C. Lemmon, settled in Dallas, Texas in 1869 and it is for him that Lemmon Avenue in Dallas is named. After serving in the French and Indian War, Robert Lemmon was married to Eleanor Davis--born in Wales and of the Jefferson Davis line. In 1786 they moved to Kentucky and settled at Dulk Creek, in Shelby County, and he died there after 1800.

James Lemmon, son of Robert, was born in 1765 near Hagerstown, Maryland. He served as a messenger boy during the American Revolution when a lad of twelve years--it being safer for boys to carry the messages than men. He carried messages from the camp of General George Washington to that of Captain Robert Lemmon (his father) and others.

He lived in Washington's camp in Valley Forge and affectionately called him "Uncle George." Toward the end of the war James entered the Continental Army as a private and served until the end of the war. In 1800 James Lemmon married Sarah Carr and lived in Bowling Green, Ky. It was during his residence here that he volunteered for military service in the War of 1812. After her death in 1815, he moved his family of children to Indiana where he married Amy Rawlins. About 1834 they were lured by free land into Illinois where they settle in Green County-living neighbors to Roderick Rawlins. In 1844 Roderick Rawlins moved his entire family from Illinois to Texas and settled in Peters' Colony on a land-grant located partly on Ten Mile Creek in what is now know as the Southern Part of Dallas County. Needing some help in getting his large family to Texas. Roderick Rawlins brought along young Robert Allen Lemmon (son of James Lemmon, and also Charles Wise, neighbors and also friends of his own son "Alec.") These two boys were so delighted with Texas that they selected 640 acres of land lying next to the Rawlins grant and walked back to Illinois to bring their parents. When they reached the Mississippi River they fashioned a raft from drift wood--tying the wood together with stout vines and attempted to paddle directly across, but when they reached the other side they were fifteen miles downstream and had to walk back to their destination. Robert Allen Lemmon returned with his father. James Lemmon, his mother, Amy Rawlins Lemmon and his younger brother Jackson Lemmon in August 1845.

James Lemmon, a citizen of the Republic of Texas, died on July 4th 1858 at his home three miles below Lancaster on the Dallas Ellis County line. He was buried 93 years ago in Edgewood Cemetery, Lancaster, Texas near the spot where the Rawlins caravan camped the night it arrived in Peters' Colony in 1844.

Clarinda Phillips Langston, daughter of Israel and Dorothy Rose Phillips, was born January 19, 1829 in Green County Illinois. Her mother died when she was seven years old, also an infant sister, leaving her the only child. She lived with her father's brother and family, John Phillips, most of the time until she was nine years old, when her father married Rebecca Cane.

This stepmother never had any children and was unhealthy, so Clarinda had to be chore boy, housekeeper and since her father was always on the move from one place to another, Mother never had much chance for schooling. She had to ride a small pony for some distance to get what schooling she could.

She also had to ride her pony to the grist mill to take corn and get it ground into meal. She tells of how the pony would always buck and throw her and the sack of grain as soon as she started out but she would get on again and he would go on all right; so she learned to watch for this little trick and was never badly hurt.

When she was fifteen, she married John Langston, an Englishman who had been working for her uncle. This was the fifth of September in 1844.

Her husband had always worked at the Iron Factories so didn't know anything about farming, so Clarinda taught him and he taught her how to read. This was always a great comfort to her, for in her older life she spent much time reading when she could not work.

When her third child was born, Father went to California to the gold fields. When the baby, whose name was Rebecca Elizabeth, was six weeks old, she died, leaving Clarinda with one child, a daughter, her first child, a boy named Israel Francis, having died when two years old.

Some time after the baby's death, two Mormon Elders came to their home in 1851. She had seen them in a dream so was prepared to receive them and the gospel. She was baptized by Elder Lane in Potawatamie County, Iowa in September 1851.

When Father came from the gold fields of California in the summer of 1851, she wanted to go to Utah and be with the Mormons. So in the early part of January 1852, they bought a yoke of oxen and a wagon and started for the West as their home had burned down and there was nothing for them to live on.

When they reached Council Bluffs, they found Isaac Stewart, a cousin of Mother's who took them in and did all they could for them. While living with Stewarts they started talking about Religion, as the Stewarts were Mormons. Father was converted to the gospel but couldn't believe in Polygamy so did not join the church for two years. He did receive a testimony on that principle, though, and then decided to go on to Utah.

Mother's father had by now come back from California with some money and found that she wanted to go with the LDS people. This made him very angry as he was very bitter against the Mormons. They started for Utah, and she never heard of her father again until after his death. He had told his neighbor, a Mr. Davis that he wanted Mother to have her share of his property, so Mr. Davis wrote his folks in Draper, Utah and found out where Mother was and then did all he could to see that she received her share of her father's estate. She found out that her father had married a third wife and had five children by her, three boys and two girls, and they all divided the property with her.

This was a big help to Mother as she was quite old by now and not able to work and did not have very much of this world's riches. But she was rich in good deeds as she was always giving some boy or girl a home and was a Mother to all children besides her own thirteen children. She was a great lover of babies, especially baby boys, and often said that she hoped she could have the chance of taking care of babies after she went to heaven.

She was head teacher in the Relief Society for years and was always looking after the poor and helping them. Many an expectant mother received help in clothes and food. Strangers were never turned from her door as she was so kind hearted. As a child I once complained about her taking in so many people and giving them beds and food but she said that, as Latter-day Saints, we send out our boys to preach the Gospel and expected them to travel from house to house and they had to rely on the stranger to feed and give them shelter, and that it should be the duty of the saints to extend the helping hand to others in need.

She was a fairly good singer and could amuse children. She was always very busy and independent before she became so feeble that she could not wait upon herself. She always raised a lot of fruit and a garden, especially large onions, which she sold to maintain her lively-hood, her husband having died in 1882. There were three main principles she always tried to teach her children, and lived herself, which were: Truth, Virtue, and Honesty which she seemed to be successful in.

The last ten years of her life she suffered a great deal but was very patient. She was bed-fast the last three years of her life. She died August 28, 1908, at the age of 79 of general debility. She was survived by seven children, four boys, Frank, Isaac, Jacob and William and three girls, Alice, Mary, and Laura. Her daughter, Clarinda Jane Stout preceeded her in death by two years, at the age of 59.

THE NIGHT MY GRANDMOTHER DIED
by Sophia Langston Terry, Alpine, Utah, 14 Dec 1967.

Grandma Clarinda Phillips Langston was born 19 Jan 1829 and died 28 Aug 1908. She was a wonderful person. To know her was to love her. She was so kind and thoughtful to little children. No child ever went away from her home hungry. The thing that stands out so vivid in my mind was the night she died. She was just worn out, she had been sick and was gradually getting weaker, for more than a month. Some of her children had been staying with her.

This night Genevieve Dalton and myself sat up with her. The children went to bed or went home. Toward midnight she got very restless and wanted some paregoric. Aunt Phoebe came in and fixed some for her, then she went back to bed. After a while Grandma motioned to me to come over to the bedside. She said, "Who is that man sitting on the foot of the bed?" and she pointed her finger toward the foot of the bed.

I said, "Grandma, there isn't any man there."

She looked at me and nodded her head and said, "Yes, there is, it is John." Then she said, "Call the children."

We went outside where Aunt Mary, Aunt Alice, Aunt Laura, and Uncle Ike were sleeping, and woke them, and called Uncle Will and wife from the other room. They all came in and stood around the bed. She waved her hand, and said "Good bye." Then closed her eyes and went to sleep. In a few minutes Aunt Phoebe took hold of her hand, then said, "She is gone."

Within myself I am sure that Grandpa was in the room waiting for her, and that the "veil" was taken from her eyes and that she "did" see him. Her body was washed and laid out and prepared for burial by the loving hands of her daughters.

This is a testimony to me that we will be together as families in the hereafter.
